With Agile now widely known across many business sectors, the theme for the 12th Agile Business Conference will explore how to take Agile to the next level. The Agile Business Conference will take place in London, 8th and 9th October 2014.

The emphasis will be on in depth exploration of the topics, issues and challenges facing a wealth of organisations and individuals as they move beyond the initial implementation and strive to embrace and master Agile to achieve its full potential.

The Conference will consist of four interactive tracks (please note that one will run as two half-tracks) offering opportunities to learn and share practical experiences; an approach that is welcomed by the conference delegates. Based on feedback from last year, we are no longer including sessions to introduce Agile or that cover the basics. Our focus this year is on submissions that offer attendees the opportunity to explore the more complex facets of Agile and learn how to overcome and manage the issues they face.

The tracks of the 2014 Conference are:

- * Agile in the Enterprise
- * Agile People
- * How To….
- * Drive Your Own Agile (2 x 1/2 day tracks on consecutive days)
- * Growing the Agile Body of Experience (2 x 1/2 day tracks on consecutive days)

If you would like to submit a proposal in one or more of these tracks, please visit the website where you will find more detailed information and an online submission form:
